Been a rough couple days against Cincinnati but we get the Cardinals this weekend!

Giving Garden Update—we seem to be getting closer to making the garden happen. PTO approved my request for money to build a garden at Hoose. The last couple pieces of the puzzle are to get a location set and get an OK from the person in charge of grounds at the unit office to allow a permanent structure on the school grounds. After that we are set. Once the pieces fall into place, I will be asking for families to come by this summer to make sure the garden is being maintained. More on that later.....

Girls Bathroom Issue— this is taking way too much time our day lately. Someone in second grade is continuing to vandalize the girls bathroom. What's being written is very disrespectful and completely out of character for the students at Hoose. I am really disappointed that we have to deal with this almost every other day. The only solution I can come up with for now is to stop allowing water bottles (more water, more bathroom breaks) and scheduling bathroom breaks periodically throughout the day. Of course, I will make exceptions for emergencies.

Language Arts - Dinosaurs Travel is a non-fiction story where readers follow a lovable group of dinosaurs as they prepare for and take various trips both long and short.

Challenge Words— technology, invent, transportation, engine, vaccine, meteorologist, satellite, manufacture, cassette, companions, luggage, relatives and sturdy.

Math—we are wrapping up the unit on measurement. I look for the chapter 9 test to be Wednesday or Thursday next week. Also, look for Gallon man—coming home soon!
