Celebrating the diversity of our world and school was brought home to the students of Glenn Elementary on February 21, 2007 as all joined together to celebrate Diversity Day. Through boundless creative energy and expert coordination, Mrs. Matlock, Mr. Hovey, Mrs. Meadows, Mrs. Gibson, and Mrs. Moore tapped into the culture and experience of parents and community resource people who each agreed to volunteer to present a taste of their world to the students. Classes moved through stations and visited Africa, India, China, South America and even learned about the world of the visually and hearing impaired and the Native American culture.

Congratulations and a large thank you to these Glenn Elementary teachers who willingly gave of their time, extra energy, and endless effort to design a day that would celebrate the excitement, the uniqueness, and the beauty of diversity.
