Traits: 1. A distinguishing feature, as of a person's character.
2. A genetically determined characteristic or condition.

Values: A principle, standard, or quality considered worthwhile or desirable.

Beliefs: Mental acceptance of and conviction in the truth, actuality, or validity of something. Something believed or accepted as true, especially a particular tenet or a body of tenets accepted by a group of persons.

One of our goals today is to determine the difference between physical and nonphysical traits. Physical traits are the traits you can see. Nonphysical traits are often used to describe a person's personality. Our values and beliefs are also connected to our personality traits. As we engage in activities and discussion, create a list of physical and nonphysical traits that can be used to describe individuals.
