Students on Stage is the annual production resulting from an independently judged playwriting competition and applications from student directors. It is student work with minimal adult guidance. This is the true goal of theatre education; students follow a creative process from start to finish, solving problems, working together, and ultimately creating a finished product. No matter what they go on to do, these students have practiced skills that will help them in life. SOS rocks.

We're not done yet!

Come back March 11, 12, & 13 for All in the Timing, six hilarious one-acts by David Ives, directed in part by returning NCHS alumni Sable VanDermay-Kirkham, Zach Schrad, and Drew Durbin.
