

Dear Grove Families,

I wanted to update you on a few things this morning. First of all, we do have a few areas in our school community that do not have power. This may be impacting students and teachers during remote learning this morning. We hope that power will be restored soon.

I also wanted to let you know that the district is working as quickly as possible to get information out to parents about upcoming details regarding the Return to School Plan and information for those students that are staying full remote. I know everyone is anxious to get more details, and I assure you they are coming as soon as possible.

Once information comes out from the district, I will begin updating our school community on specific details about our plan at Grove Elementary.

Just a reminder that there is no school next Monday, October 12.

The district has also decided to push back parent - teacher conferences to second semester. So, October 23 will be a student attendance day.

Thank you and have a great week!

Mrs. Edwards
